

Koko's Kitten
OCR 4th grade Unit 5 Lesson 3
Readers Theatre

Jane: I'm so excited to be out in the jungle with you.

Diane: It's my pleasure. Just don't be too obnoxious.

Jane: Moi? You must be kidding. Where did you get that perception?

Diane: Remember the last time you came with me?

Jane: Yeah, nothing happened.

Diane: Nothing happened? We almost got killed.

Jane: How was I supposed to know that you don't make fun of an aggressive gorilla?

Diane: We had a dialogue beforehand on the proper protocol for observations.

Jane: I know. You told me to not talk to the animals.

Diane: That's right. You're not Dr. Doolittle. But you angered him with your gestures.

Jane: I was signing. That's not the same as talking!

Diane: It is. Especially when you signed that he was crazy and ugly!

Jane: I didn't know that he understood sign language.

Diane: What do you think I was teaching him?

Jane: I have no idea. I never listen to what you tell me.

Diane: Whatever. Today, do me a favor, and don't eat in front of the tigers.

Jane: How about my cheetos?

Diane: It would be extremely dangerous.

Jane: Danger is my middle name.

Diane: And "dead" will be your last name!
